The River of Life: Furniture at the Turn of an Era

The Dynamics of Flowing Contours

The boundaries between the different areas of life are becoming increasingly blurred – thanks to the simple conversion of properties and global connectivity, workplaces can be created anywhere in the world at any time. Even within our own four walls, we need furniture that can constantly reinvent itself.

In the manufacturing company de Sede, where tradition and innovation have always gone hand in hand, an idea germinated: what if a piece of furniture could adapt as effortlessly to life as water finding its way through the landscape?

This question formed the starting point for a journey embarked upon by our master craftsmen and the designers from Yonoh Studio. These looked to combine different seating elements with individually positionable backrests that allow complete freedom with regard to form and function. Whether individually, in groups, indoors, or outdoors, there was only one stipulation, but it was an important one: the piece had to easily adapt to individual lifestyles and changing spatial conditions; it had to be able to find its place.

A Loyal Companion Through Changing Times

In an era in which living rooms are instantly transformed into home offices or gardens into open-air conference rooms, the DS-909 Flow is more than a piece of furniture – it's a loyal companion in the fast-flowing river of life. Monika Walser, CEO of de Sede, summarizes: "We want the DS-909 Flow to inspire people to frequently reinvent the spaces around them. It's our response to a world that's in constant flux."

The DS-909 Flow is more than just a sofa; it's a philosophy, and embodies our firm belief that true mastery lies in combining tradition and innovation to find solutions for future challenges. With every DS-909 Flow that leaves our workshop, we send a message out into the world: find your flow and transform your home into a place that develops with you – with the DS-909 Flow, your anchor in the fast-flowing river of life, created by the masters of Swiss craftsmanship at de Sede.

New Elements

Born from the idea of making compact living spaces even more flexible—both in private settings and in contract environments—de Sede makes a further statement with the new swivel armchair and matching connecting element. These timeless components open up a wide range of possibilities for individual interior layouts, adding a new dimension to the masterpiece and making modular living design even more appealing.
