

FOGLIE FOR ALIMONTI MILANO

DESIGNED BY MATTEO THUN & ANTONIO RODRIGUEZ

The Italian marble manufacturer Alimonti Milano produces marble for architectural projects and interior design - and of course there is material left over. Why not reuse it and create something new?

It was precisely this marble waste from Alimonti that inspired Matteo Thun & Antonio Rodriguez to design a collection of serving plates in various shapes and sizes. The carefully assembled strips of recycled marble are reborn, becoming objects of everyday life. The resulting patterns and colors are reminiscent of different leaf formations. The waste of marble production is transformed into beauty!
